STORY

Since November 8, the Verzio Human Rights Documentary Film Festival, "Burning Issues", is being held in Budapest. The key topic of this 19th edition is the war in Ukraine, alongside other looming issues such as migration, the energy crisis and the consequences of climate change. As part of the festival, last week Verzio invited a range of actors, including IOM Hungary, to participate in a panel discussion on the importance of cooperation between international organizations and NGOs in times of crisis, especially in the Ukrainian one. Also, in December IOM will show one of the movies screened during the Verzio Film Festival at the 2022 Global Migration Film Festival.
